

```
#!/usr/bin/env python
coding: utf-8
```

```
1]:
```

```
pip install psutil
```

```
6]:
```

```
import psutil, time, logging
```

```
force=True is needed in Jupyter, otherwise the log file is not created
logging.basicConfig(filename="health_log.txt", level=logging.INFO, format="%(asctime)s %(message)s", force=True)
```

```
CPU_LIMIT, MEM_LIMIT, DISK_LIMIT = 80, 80, 90
```

```
def check():
    cpu = psutil.cpu_percent(interval=1)
    mem = psutil.virtual_memory().percent disk = psutil.disk_usage("C:\\").percent msg = f"CPU={cpu}% MEM={mem}% DISK={disk}%"
    print(msg)
    logging.info(msg)

    for name, value, limit in [("CPU", cpu, CPU_LIMIT), ("Memory", mem, MEM_LIMIT),
                               ("Disk", disk, DISK_LIMIT)]:
        if value > limit:
            alert = f"ALERT: {name} usage {value}% exceeds {limit}%"
            print(alert)
            logging.warning(alert)

if __name__ == "__main__":
    for _ in range(5):
        check()
        time.sleep(2)
```

```
4]:
```

```
CPU_LIMIT, MEM_LIMIT, DISK_LIMIT = 80, 50, 90
```